

Ramping up the FAKE EVENTS

by Miles Mathis

You wouldn't think they could ramp up the fake events: we already seemed to be on maximum. But somehow they are. I will hit a couple of fake murders in the news today. The first, that of Ryan Thoresen Carson is fantastically easy to see through.

We have that Jewish creep, self-styled as the Chief Operating Officer of Antifa, faking his death in Brooklyn to add to the race war they are manufacturing. Since Antifa is a known and obvious CIA front, we know this is fake without further study. But the red flags pile to the Moon and are worth listing anyway. First of all, they are listing him as both 31 and 32 in the same articles, proving this is the usual mindstir. He was allegedly walking with his girlfriend at 4am in a suit, but honestly he doesn't look like the kind of guy who would have a girlfriend, does he? His murder conveniently happened just below a street camera and the whole thing was captured, including audio. The video is blurred out, but those street cams have better resolution than that. We are told the stabbing was random, but it is already coming out that Carson knew the black guy and was allegedly trying to talk him down from some domestic squabble. We are told the couple had just left a wedding in Long Island. So what are they doing sitting on backless metal bus benches in the middle of the night in Crown Heights? Carson lives in Brooklyn, but not Crown Heights. He lives on Marcy, which is Bushwick.

Further research finds it wasn't Crown Heights, it was Lafayette and Malcolm X. Oho, I guess you see the joke there? A fake race-war murder of a white by a black, and it happened on Malcolm X Blvd near Jesse Owens playground. Very funny, right? Typical Langley humor.

I looked it up on Google Maps, and we can see the blue fence across the street, telling us they are directly in front of Hermanos Organic Deli. Is that a 24-hour hangout for lily white people on Malcolm X Blvd, so that they can get their late night hummus and tofu? No. This is a street of black gyms and beauty salons and “real estate bought and sold for cash”, so not a great place for Ryan and Claudia to be hanging out at 4am in wedding attire.

Amazingly, they have pictures of the couple at the wedding, in the same clothes, so we can compare.

What the odds? Before and after photos. So convenient. I note that she has a huge witch tattoo on her forearm. Not a good sign. Doesn't instill trust in this event, does it? And is that even the same guy?

Hard to tell, really. The glasses are different, but he could have bought a different pair. I don't see any glasses in the video, but it is too blurry to be sure.

In any case, his girlfriend Claudia is either the calmest person ever or a terrible actress, I would assume the latter.

Another problem: there is no camera there that could have taken this footage:

So the CIA must have installed a camera just for this theater project.

Here's another clue: Carson's friend Emily Gallagher says she knew him from the DIY punk scene, so let me ask you this: does that first guy look like a punk? Even the second guy looks pussy new wave at worst—a George Michael fan—but the first guy isn't punk at all. Punks don't dress like that EVER, not even to go to weddings on Long Island. The hair, glasses, mustache, and suit all say Napoleon Dynamite wannabe, the direct opposite of punk, so this is another test of your intelligence.

Carson's grandfather is John Thoresen, a bigwig who was President and CEO of the Economic Development Council until 2001, and partner at BCAP Management after that. He now heads the Barbara Sinatra Children's Center, and you can see a pic of him here with the Gershowitzes and Aly Raisman in New York for some event lighting the Empire State building for National Childhood Abuse month. We aren't told if they are for or against that. The Gershowitzes own Marcus Corp Theaters and Hotels; and you will remember Aly Raisman, the Jewish gymnast who took part in the fake prosecution of Larry Nassar. So as usual it is the same families all the time.

Carson was working for NYPIRG, yet another CIA front and training ground, so best guess is he went into covert ops and used this fake event as cover for that.

Added October 6: More proof this is fake is coming in daily. They quickly made an arrest based on that blurry photo of a guy in a hoodie, and he is 18. His name is Brian Dowling. Hmmm. Not really a black guy's name, is it? Is he related to Tim Dowling of Geneanet, cousin of kings? Is he related to Hitler, whose sister-in-law was a Dowling? We aren't told. Probably a fake name, since the big computers have never heard of him. Being 18, he should be listed, but no one in that age group comes up in Brooklyn, New York, or nationwide. The nearest match is 25, from Bridgeport, CT. So, some ghost actor Langley made up for this event.

Also amusing is that the “distraught” friends of Ryan Carson, some of whom have been quoted in the press, have started a GoFundMe page, not for Carson's family, but for themselves, so they can take time off work and grieve. I have already donated . . . my entire collection of used toothpicks.

OK, second fake murder: Josh Kruger. Yep, another Jewish name. As in that Jewish ghoul Freddie Krueger (no relation). Actually, Josh's uncle and cousin are named . . . Freddie Kruger. No, really.

Let's take the clues as we get them: Kruger was a short, gay journalist, previously homeless and testing positive for HIV and drug abuse. So he couldn't have died of that, right? No, we are told he was shot at home by an intruder at age 39, on the same day as Ryan Carson. Kruger had previously worked as Content Director for the mayor of Philadelphia (a CIA position). He was working for the Philadelphia Citizen at the time of his death, and PC has a very strange Board of Directors. It includes the Senior Vice President of Government Affairs at Comcast, a known CIA front. Also Rich Phillips, formerly lead counsel for the CIA and NSA, now listed as a “philanthropist”. Right. Also Robert Keith, founder of TL Ventures, fined by the SEC in 2014. And finally, Diana Lind, Communications Director of the Penn Institute for Urban Research. So if you thought Philadelphia Citizen was a citizen journal, well, you would be very wrong. It is just the opposite.

But the way we know this was faked and not just another HIV death is that the day before he died, Kruger went on Twitter to mock Scott Adams, who had claimed in 2020 that if Biden got elected Kruger would be dead within a year. Kruger laughed that Adams was like Nostradamus. Everyone is now commenting on how eerie it was that Adams predicted Kruger's death, though a couple of years late. Even Adams joked afterwards that he had an alibi.

As if that weren't enough to peg this as a fake, we are also told Kruger had been threatened by a woman calling herself Lady Diabla, the She-Devil-of-the-Streets. More obvious Langley writing, to telegraph this event.

This is also strange: Josh's father was Kenneth Kruger, ex-Marine, big hole in his bio, claims to have worked for the Post Office but that is a common CIA cover, has a son named Eric Eysenbach. What? Why the different last names? That is Josh's brother, about ten years older. Took his mother's name? Why? Anyway, at MyLife, Eric claims to work at Boo Radley Productions. That's another possible CIA cover, since a search on that finds the usual mischief: idle companies in many states, including CA, OR, and TN. And you remember who Boo Radley is, right? The spooky character from To Kill a Mockingbird, written by one-hit wonder Harper Lee, who is probably a CIA committee front herself. So this looks like another CIA pointer, like Wizard of OZ, Alice in Wonderland, etc.

Next, fake death number three, tech guru Pava Lapere, the 26-year-old CEO of EcoMap, who was allegedly murdered on September 22 by black man Jason Billingsley in Baltimore. She was found on the rooftop of her apartment building three days later. Camera footage again exists, showing her letting Billingsley in herself, though we don't know why. They suggest she thought he was a maintenance worker or lost his keys. Right. Billingsley, again 32 (like Ryan Carson), had previously been sentenced to thirty years for rape at knifepoint. He was released after six years for good behavior. One problem: if we do a people search on Jason Dean Billingsley, 32, of Baltimore, we find him, but his only location is Baltimore. But there is no state penitentiary in Baltimore. He should have a listing for Hagerstown, Jessup, or someplace like that. Also, Dean is a strange middle name for a black man. Very uncommon, but it is commonly Jewish.

Three days before killing Lapere, he allegedly raped a different woman and set her on fire. He was being sought for that crime but they couldn't find him. Right. He was on parole, so they should have had an address for him and many contacts. He may have had an ankle bracelet.

How did the police know it was Billingsley from that footage? The facial recognition software must be really good now, eh? But if you think so, return to the footage of Ryan Carson being killed. Could any computer recognize him or his killer from that footage? Of course not.

Pava's father is Frank Lapere. Her mother is Caroline Marchwinski of Tucson. Her uncle is Edward Winn, aka Edward Marchwinski, but he is not listed on her Instantcheckmate profile. Scrubbed everywhere under both names, indicating a probable spook. Of course it looks like the Marchwinskis are Jewish, see here for example. Also here, where the name was probably previously Marczynski. That indicates to me it is Polish for Marks/Marx.

So how did Pava start up a company at age 21, before she had even graduated from Johns Hopkins? They don't tell us that, but she must have been from a very wealthy family. She made the Forbes 30 under 30 list this year, so she had heavy mainstream promotion as well. Again indicating she was Jewish. You say no?

Also Cuban, I guess, so a Marrano related to Castro and Trudeau most likely. The image is reversed, since we also have Alpha Kappa Psi there, which is the business fraternity. It is to remind us Pava was VP of Professional Development at AKP. Yet another dig in the battle of the sexes, since it is probably there to remind us all business fraternities were forced to allow women in 1976, but business sororities are still not forced to allow men. Sexist.

In a link at the bottom of the Microsoft Start page where I found that last info about AKP, we find a new report on Jon Benet Ramsey, pushing that whole fraud on us again. We are told new DNA technology will likely show the Ramseys had nothing to do with it. No, they didn't, since the entire case was faked from the ground up.

Finally, we get the fake story of British actor Laurence Fox allegedly getting arrested for saying he supported the “blade runners” knocking down cameras in London. He is from the famous Fox family of top British actors, including his father James and his grandfather Robin, who was chairman of the English Stage Company. Also his brother Jack and his cousins Emilia and Freddie. I had a crush on Emilia after Pride and Prejudice: look her up and you will see why. Like the rest of these people Laurence has specialized in period pieces, and you may have seen him in Gosford Park, Becoming Jane, and Elizabeth: the Golden Age. He has played Prince Charles and Lord Palmerston, so he is not a no-name. If you haven't heard of him in the US it is only because you don't watch period pieces. In 2020, at age 42, it appears his main career was finished and he was tapped for MI6 projects. He was dropped by his agent for pushing back on Question Time when someone called him a white privileged male. We are supposed to think that isn't allowed anymore, I guess. In 2021 he played Hunter Biden in My Son Hunter, a big step down for him. Last month he hit the news big time when he was fired by GB News for asking who would want to shag liberal journalist Ava Evans:

Obviously, many straight guys would, as long as they could wear earplugs. Which is exactly how we know this is all fake. First of all, Fox is a professional actor and knows you don't say stuff like that in the mainstream media, no matter how “conservative” you are or how much you hate liberals. Second, he would know he wasn't going to score any points by attacking Ava Evans in that manner. It was a guaranteed fail, which means it was a planned fail. Third, the fact that she isn't hideous made her an allowed target in these fake wars. Any comment like that is guaranteed to bounce off her and land back on Fox, as it was meant to. Which is precisely why he didn't attack some dog on the left. That would rightly have been seen as cruel and completely out-of-bounds, ruining the rest of his life. But as it is, this will just rattle around for a few weeks and he can wash it off of him later with no lasting effect. He will be seen as temporarily deranged, a state all of us can claim these days to some extent. In fact, he has already apologized for it, making himself look even more whipped and Ava an even bigger winner here, without doing anything. Ava should have paid him for the promotion, and may have.

You will say Fox shouldn't have been fired for that, since women say things just as nasty about men all the time without getting fired. True, but that isn't my point here. I am not taking sides because that is what they want you to do. This is part of a manufactured gender war, and Fox's firing was the whole point from the start. He predicted he would be fired: meaning he knew it was in the script. Evans and Fox are probably cousins hired to front this project this week. That is what they do.

But that was just grease for the current fake, where, in an interview on Rumble, Fox said he not only supported the blade runners demolishing Ulez cameras, he was planning to join them, saying he would film himself doing it. He not only supported the action, but promoted it. Ridiculous, since all real monkeywrenchers know that drawing attention to the act is counterproductive. It is guerrilla warfare, and you don't wage war that way on camera. You wear balaclavas, work at night, and keep your mouth shut. So we have more proof Fox has been hired to sully everything he touches, like many other agents. And his statements in this event confirm my reading of the Ava Evans event. He is an infiltrator and spy. He should be shunned.

And here's something else weird. Laurence Fox was married to Billie Piper for nine years. But his mother's maiden name is Mary Piper. Did he marry a cousin? We don't know, but we do know that is what these people do. Billie Piper was previously married to Chris Evans. Not Captain America, but the much older television presenter. Is he related to Ava Evans? We don't know, since Ava Santana Evans has no bio. She has said her mother is Italian, so her mother's maiden name may be Santana. Other than that, she is a ghost. Always a red flag. In that sense, Douglas Murray's comments to her face on Piers Morgan that “she didn't even have a career” are spot-on. While Murray has a long Wiki page with 175 footnotes, Evans has nothing. She isn't listed. You will say neither am I, but Wiki isn't burying Ava Evans because she is so dangerous or revolutionary. Her politics match their own, so you would expect some major promotion, and yet they seem to have never heard of her. Maybe its because they don't want to put up a page with no information on it. Nothing is known of her, so what would it say? Same thing her bio at JOE says. . . nothing. She has fake blonde hair and talks on TV. That's it.

But back to the Foxes. Laurence's father James is also spooky, as I remember from previous research. His grandfather was Frederick Lonsdale, the famous playwright of the 1920s. Born Lionel Frederick Leonard, mother a Belford, born in Jersey. His daughter Frances married the Baron John Stuart Donaldson. His mother was a Hobart-Hampden, linking us to the Earls of Buckinghamshire. Anyway, after making Performance with Mick Jagger in 1968, James Fox quit acting and joined the Navigators, a spooky “Christian” organization in Colorado Springs. I remind you that Colorado Springs is a huge military town, littered with bases. The Navigators were formed out of the Navy in 1933 by the evangelist Dawson Trotman. By 1951 they had infiltrated college campuses, starting with the University of Nebraska. By 1953 they were linked to Billy Graham, who sold them one of his properties Glen Eyrie in Colorado Springs. It is a Tudor-style castle built by General William Jackson

Palmer, so this just keeps getting better. He was a big railroad tycoon and one of the richest men in the US by 1880. His wife was Mary Lincoln Mellen, daughter of William Proctor Mellen, linking us to all that New York wealth as well, as well as to the Clarks and Seymours.

In case you don't know, the Navigators are an early split-the-sexes project, famous for their no dating, no-touch policies. How to create sexual anorexics/gays in three easy steps, starting with hooking them with Biblical studies that seem genuine. It was targeted to the US since we don't have same-sex prep schools like they do in England. Did. Or not as much. Schoolboys in the US weren't getting sexually screwed up in great enough numbers, so the Navy had to step in. The Navy has never liked straights since they lose a lot of potential recruits to marriage/women. It isn't hard to figure out.

So, in short, the Navigators were yet another military intelligence project, which means they recruited James Fox at this time for some reason. Within a decade he was back, seemingly unchanged, though he did have an even greater thirst for propaganda films. So. . . it runs in the family. And it runs way back, because these are the same Foxes we looked at in the old Quaker project. Not much has changed in over 300 years, since they were closely connected to the Stuarts even then.
