

FAKE NERVE POISON ATTACKS

by Johan R.

October 15, 2018. The latest propaganda attacks by the West on Russia smack of a turf war amongst our ruling families as exposed by Miles in his numerous papers. Or maybe just a diversion. Wikipedia says the following: *At 16:15 on 4 March 2018, an emergency services call reported that Sergei Skripal, a 66-year-old resident of Salisbury, and his 33-year-old daughter Yulia, who had flown into London's Heathrow Airport from Russia the previous day, had been found unconscious on a public bench in the centre of Salisbury by a passing doctor and nurse.^{[14][15][16]} An eyewitness saw Yulia foaming at the mouth with her eyes wide open but completely white.^[17] According to a later British government statement they were "slipping in and out of consciousness on a public bench".^[18] At 17:10, they were separately taken to Salisbury District Hospital by an ambulance and an air ambulance.^[19] Note the passing doctor and nurse – as Miles would say: how convenient.*

Sergei Skripal (age 66 = 33 + 33) and his daughter Yulia (33 yrs) looks like they are part of a staged event – the following excerpts in italics are from mainstream media in the UK: Russia has denied using Novichok, a nerve agent first developed by the Soviet military, to attack Skripal, and Moscow has said it suspects the British secret services are trying to frame Russia to stoke anti-Russian hysteria. The lives of Sergei Skripal and his daughter Yulia will never be the same again. After surviving a murder attempt alleged to be by the Russian state, they must now prepare to disappear, take on new identities and say goodbye to family and friends for ever.

YULIA Skripal was targeted in the Salisbury nerve agent attack just days after she gained access to a $200,000 "secret bank account", her family claim. According to The Sun, the money belonged to the 33-year-old's brother Alexander, who died in mysterious circumstances in St Petersburg last year. (Alexander is 33 or 43? Take your pick.) Alexander died aged 43, reported Huffpost, while on holiday with his girlfriend in St Petersburg. He was said to have been admitted to hospital for liver failure. Relatives deemed the death as "suspicious". Two guinea pigs belonging to Sergei Skripal died and his cat was put down after the Salisbury nerve agent attack, the government has revealed. A spokeswoman for the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) said the dead guinea pigs and a "distressed" cat were discovered when a vet was able to enter Skripal's home, which had been sealed off during the police investigation. Defra said it believed the guinea pigs had died of thirst.

Now if all the above makes any sense – good for you. However, Miles' papers alert and make us noticing discrepancies and misdirection more easily. I only wish I could connect all the dots as he does, especially re the genealogies. For example Skripal seems like misdirection and could be Shripel, Skripel which might be Jewish?

[Miles: looks to me like a fake name. It isn't Russian. It is probably a slur of Shripal/Sripal, which is a Vedic name meaning "Lord Vishnu". My guess is it is referring to the blue complexion of Vishnu, which those who die of Novichok poisoning also allegedly have. In other words, it is another joke.

Also, what is all the stuff about guinea pigs and cats? Why would a distressed cat be put down? Why not just take it to the shelter? Because it was poisoned, too? No, there is no talk of that. The guinea pigs didn't die of poisoning, did they? The article admits they died of thirst. So why not give the cat some water and find it a new home? Because none of this happened. It was made up by someone whose brain doesn't work right, i.e., another writer for Intel.]

For more confirmation let's briefly look at the famous Litvinenko incident of 2006. According to Wikipedia: Alexander Litvinenko was a former officer of the Russian Federal Security Service (FSB) and KGB, who fled from court prosecution in Russia and received political asylum in the United Kingdom. On 1 November 2006, Litvinenko suddenly fell ill and was hospitalized. He died three weeks later, becoming the first confirmed victim of lethal polonium-210-induced acute radiation syndrome.^[1] Litvinenko's allegations about the misdeeds of the FSB and his public deathbed accusations that Russian president Vladimir Putin was behind his unusual malady resulted in worldwide media coverage.^[2]

Please forgive me – I'm not as thorough as Miles and a complete amateur compared to him. However, it should be quite clear from the following photo something is seriously amiss.

Enlarging the image it becomes clear that some of the patches on Litvinenko's chest are not wired. Furthermore the machines surrounding him are also not powered. Which leads us to ask: 1) Are the machines off because of his imminent passing, or 2) This photo was staged? My assertion is towards the latter. Does he look like a corpse in waiting? No, they just shaved his head. Other than that he looks fine. He has great color for someone in the last stages of poisoning. I guess there is a tanning bed in the room next door, which he uses after his workout on the basketball court.

This is a photo of Litvinenko's grave – as Miles would comment, it proves bugger all! (Sorry the last expression is typically British)

It would seem the arms industry needs to reduce their inventories to make room for the new deliveries and also the testing of new technology. For proof see this: Theresa May's husband's Investment Firm made a financial killing from the bombing of Syria - On the 14th April 2018, the Prime Minister Theresa May sanctioned British military action on Syria in response to an apparent chemical attack on the city of Douma – air strikes that saw the debut of a new type of Cruise Missile, the JASSM, produced exclusively by the Lockheed Martin Corporation. The debut of this new – and incredibly expensive – weapon was exactly what US President Donald Trump was referring to when he tweeted that the weapons being fired on Syria would be “nice and new and ‘smart!’” Consequently, with the air strikes on Syria having hugely boosted Lockheed Martin's share price when markets reopened on Monday, Philip May's firm subsequently made a fortune from their investment in the Defence giant.

[Miles: the above reminds us of the 2008 film Iron Man, doesn't it, when Robert Downey tests his new Stark industries smart missile in Afghanistan. I am just surprised they don't call the JASSM a Jericho missile. These cost about a million apiece, by the way.]

Novichok allegedly claimed another victim Dawn Sturgess this summer. The Sun reports as follows: The 44-year-old was rushed to hospital on June 30 after falling ill at a home in Amesbury, Wiltshire. Just hours later, her partner Charlie Rowley was also taken to hospital with the same symptoms. As both remained in a critical condition, scientists from the Government's nearby defence research centre Porton Down confirmed they had been poisoned with Novichok. It was announced on July 8 that Dawn had tragically passed away. Dawn, 44, was exposed to at least 10 times the amount of nerve agent used on ex-Russian spy Sergei Skripal and his daughter Yulia. Cops are probing a theory the poison was in a perfume bottle discarded by the Russian would-be assassins. Yeah right, professional assassins do not know how to get rid of evidence?

They explained how Dawn switched from a popular pupil at Durrington school in Wiltshire to a homeless alcoholic due to post-natal depression when Aidan was born. The pal said: "Her personality changed. She became like a zombie. She didn't care about anything and just let everything go. She started smoking weed and over the course of time she turned to harder drugs. Mum-of three Dawn lives in a homeless hostel 300 yards from the Zizzi restaurant where MI6 mole Sergei and daughter Yulia ate before they collapsed. Dawn and Charlie were both taken to Salisbury District Hospital, where the Skripals spent weeks before regaining consciousness.

This is a photo of Dawn Sturgess – when the image is enlarged the (lonely) tattoo on her left shoulder appears to be a tortoise. Is the tortoise testing our perception? A tortoise symbolises good luck, longevity and in mysticism it carries the world on its back. Can we read this as Sturgess still being alive? Your guess is as good as mine.

[Miles: it is the “turtle that strikes hard”, symbol of the Fabians. Proving she is a spook. We can be sure she is still alive—if she didn't die of ink poisoning.]

The Telegraph had this to say about the funeral: Guests arrived in smart, brightly coloured t-shirts, floral dresses and pink cardigans. Men wore blue and red ties. The sky overhead was a heavy grey. "The family were very happy for people to wear colour and to make it a celebration rather than something depressing or too mournful," said Rev Bromiley. "They want to be as positive as possible and there was a real willingness to use this as an opportunity to celebrate Dawn as she really was." Yes, why not be cheerful when a homeless woman and zombie gets poisoned to death by a government nerve agent? That makes perfect sense. But this does make a fake funeral easier, since the actors will not have to cry or otherwise improvise sorrow. It also makes perfect sense, seeing all these well dressed people having an expensive party for a homeless alcoholic and drug addict. Who paid for this? If she had all these rich friends, why didn't one of them help her out with a room or a trip to the hospital? We also have an expedited cremation to short circuit any embarrassing evidence.

That any funeral took place at all was totally unexpected. Just a few weeks ago, the Sturgess family had been informed her body would not be returned for many months, presumably while an autopsy and further tests were carried out. While the UK's Porton Down military laboratory—located just a few miles away from Salisbury and fully capable of manufacturing what is known as “novichok”—baldly asserted its presence in the couple, the inquest was told that more tests were needed until an actual cause of death could be given. But no such verdict has been released to the public, with the inquest into her death adjourned until January 2019. The Conservative government is desperate to contain and control a story, which, with the discharge of the now healthy Rowley from hospital, has reached such a pitch that not a single word from the authorities can be believed. Upon leaving hospital, Rowley was whipped off to a police safe house, despite not being the target of any attack—even in the government's own narrative he was simply an unfortunate “collateral” victim. While Rowley has at least been heard of since being taken to a secret location by the British state, nothing regarding how they came to be poisoned has been heard from the Skripals since also being spirited away by police and intelligence forces months ago.

Couldn't possibly be that these three people were whisked away because the project was over, could it? Their stints as crisis actors were done and they had to get on to the next hoax.

Wikipedia: Able Danger was a classified military planning effort led by the U.S. Special Operations Command (SOCOM) and the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA). It was created as a result of a directive from the Joint Chiefs of Staff in early October 1999 by Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Hugh Shelton, to develop an information operations campaign plan against transnational terrorism. This is what the conspiracy site www.abeldanger.org says about our current case: Dawn Sturgess had 2 sons with a man named Andy 'Honey' Hope. Andrew Hope has worked for the UK based multinational military and cyber-tech spy firm, Qinetiq, since its creation in 2001. Starting as an Avionics Installation Manager, he slowly worked his way up the ranks to Senior Systems Engineer. Two of the most notable high profile executives that have worked for QinetiQ over the years have been the ex-director of the CIA, George J. Tenet, and former US Undersecretary of Defense for Intelligence, Stephen Cambone. George J. Tenet served as the head of the CIA under both Clinton and Bush administrations between 1997–2004. QinetiQ was formed in 2001 after the UK government privatized one half of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA). The other more sensitive half of the DERA was kept and maintained by the UK government and was renamed the Defence Science and Technology Laboratory (DSTL). It's worth noting that the only known laboratory in the UK to handle Novichok is Porton Down, which is part of DSTL. QinetiQ is basically a private defense research arm of the UK government.

*Then we get this from the website: I shall speculate further and say that the CIA/Deepstate had ordered Andrew Hope to kill Sergei Skripal due to Skripal's ties to Christopher Steele and the Trump dossier. Hope in turn hired his ex-partner, Dawn Sturgess, who appears to have been living in a homeless hostel at the time and struggling for money, to plant the nerve agent somewhere in Salisbury which eventually lead to the near deaths of Skripal and his daughter earlier in March this year. Maybe Dawn was worried about what she had gotten herself into and had threatened to go to the police or media to expose the lie. Maybe they were both poisoned to keep the truth from coming out. Maybe I've dug too far and connected dots where there are no connections. Whatever the reason for this recent poisoning, we can be sure whatever the MSM tell us cannot be trusted.

The last two sentences are the only ones making some sense. If this is the standard of speculation they provide then either I'm an idiot or they want to see how far they can get with their nonsense! But this does tell us what to think of the website AbelDanger.org. Obviously they are trying to give support to Christopher Steele and the Trump dossier, keeping your eyes on the fake "Russia stole the election" story. But although the election was stolen, of course Russia didn't steal it. Every election in the US has been stolen back to George Washington, and they have been stolen by those Miles has fingered. But Dawn Sturgess' link to Hope and QinetiQ doesn't imply this was a deep-state murder, does it? No, it implies Sturgess is an agent playing a part, which implies none of this is true. It is another fake, run to keep our eyes on this sexy nerve gas baloney and off any real news. They need us to think Russia is an enemy undermining our sovereignty and elections, when the truth is Russia and Putin are just Hollywood East. This is all just the current theater, staged to divert us.

Hokey or is it Dopey has a Facebook page with a photograph of his wedding on 16 September 2018 with Karen Scott. I guess Karen hasn't read AbelDanger, or maybe she was bored and is hoping her new hubby Hope will assign her to some dangerous project, so that she can also end up homeless and dead.

Furthermore another Dopey and his pals' Facebook photos tells you exactly what they think of us.

Posted together, those seem to say, "I am an upperclass poof with a bleach-blond beard, but I am also a pretend working-class retard". I have a lot of Miles' papers downloaded on my pc and when I searched the names Scott and Hope I was completely overwhelmed with info. I'm pretty sure some interesting links wait to be discovered – however that is for someone else to do. Ghostbusters will probably find many spooks lurking in the shadows trying to frighten us. Is Hope related to Bill Murray? He sure looks like him, doesn't he?

[Miles: in fact, we just saw the name Hope in my last paper on the Titanic. The daughter of Admiral Sir George Hope-Vere married the 2nd Baronet Calvert, and his sister was married to Abel Smith, father of the 1st Baronet Smith. Capt. Edward Smith of the Titanic was of these Smiths in the peerage.]

All the nonsense regarding the fake novichok incidents leads one to conclude the official stories are just a lot of hot air to "burn" the populace into confusion and fear. And again we are paying taxes for misdirection and to further fatten the fat cats. At least they provide us with much mirth.
