

BRIAN SICKNICK

You remember Brian Sicknick, right? He is the Capitol Police officer who allegedly died a couple of days after January 6, and the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal, and the Associated Press made up a story about him dying after being hit in the head with a fire extinguisher. Joe Biden is still repeating that story. However, neither the medical examiner nor the police ever reported that, so someone—we don't know exactly who—just made it up from whole cloth. In fact, the coroner released a statement contradicting it soon after it was reported, but the media decided to bury that. Mainstream sources like Wikipedia now admit there is no evidence of it, and there is clear evidence against it, since the medical examiner found no blunt force trauma. Not to be deterred by a little thing like the truth, the liars went to work again, claiming Sicknick died from an allergic reaction to bear spray. Rolling Stone is still pushing that story, as you see from that headline above from TGPFactCheck. Unfortunately, it is also false, and we know that because the medical examiner found no evidence for it. It says that clearly in the report. No sign of an allergic reaction to bear spray, and if he was sprayed by anything, it was normal pepper spray, not bear spray. The mainstream also admits that now.

Snopes even admits it, saying the initial stories about fire extinguishers and bear spray were false. But then Snopes adds this at the end:

Sicknick's wasn't the only law enforcement death that immediately followed the riot. Police were overwhelmed and overrun, and outnumbered officers tried to fend off rioters who were assaulting them from all sides. Roughly 140 police officers were injured, some seriously.

Again, there is no evidence of that. Snopes links us to the CIA's own newspaper The Washington Post as a source, but we find nothing but raw claims there as well. As proof, some pictures of officers are shown, but no injuries or medical reports. So we have to take their word for it, as usual. Sorry, I am way past doing that. When these people tell me it is day, I assume it is night. In these same pages they are still selling the Sicknick murder as real, so if they lied about that, why should we not believe they lied about all the rest?

But what got me looking at this story again is not only the fact that Rolling Stone is still pushing it when it has been proved to be false, but the picture of Sicknick posted and the actions of his father. We find with a little research that his father was actually the source of both these stories, telling media that his son had died of bear spray and being hit on the head. Since he had to know that was false, we take another step down the rabbit hole. But before we get there, let's look at that picture of Brian Sicknick from a few years earlier. See the first pic of him above, under title. He's wearing lipstick, isn't he? That's very strange. Not only does it indicate the usual thing, it also indicates he may be an actor here, which would mean his death was faked. Do we have any more evidence in that direction? Actually, we do:

As it turns out, Sicknick was not Capitol Police, he was Air Force, as you can see by the tag in the second photo. I would now assume he was Air Force Theatrical Division all along. Let's see, who else was Air Force? Oh, that would be Ashli Babbitt, the other fake casualty in this event. She was a sixteen-year veteran of the Air Force, so she probably had high rank, maybe even Lt. Colonel. As I showed in my long paper on the January 6 staged event, this was a production of the Pentagon, not FBI, with a heavy presence from Air Force. John Sullivan, cameraman and provocateur, is the son of Lt. Gen. Kevin Sullivan, Air Force. Larry Brock was also there, Air Force Lt. Colonel.

That's the photo they use to prove Sicknick was Capitol police, but there is one problem: it is fake. It is photoshopped and computer generated. See how all the edges are unnatural? It is most obvious with the hat, which doesn't sit on his head right and doesn't throw the correct shadow. Also look at the areas around his eyes, which look heavily retouched, as if he were appearing on a movie poster and they were trying to make him look 15 years younger. Totally airbrushed and smoothed. Remember, this is what he really looked like in 2020:

So why would his official Capitol police photo look like it was taken twenty years ago? All their cameras have been broken since 2002?

His bios try to tell us he was Air National Guard, but he was more than that, since he deployed to Afghanistan as part of the 108th Security Forces Squadron of the 108th wing. Note the numbers, which are of course aces and eights. His uniforms above aren't Air National Guard, they are Air Force.

This led me to look this guy up at Intelius. Guess what, the big computers don't know he is dead. He died at age 42, but they have him listed as age 43, still alive and aging normally.

The screenshot shows the Intelius search results for Brian David Sicknick. The interface includes a search bar at the top with the URL: intelius.com/results/?firstname=brian&lastname=sicknick&city=washington&state=DC&qlocation=false&qrelatives=false&qover30=false. Below the search bar, the Intelius logo is displayed. A prompt reads "Next Step: Select A Result Below" with a green downward arrow. A button labeled "Modify Search" is available. The search results are presented in a table with columns: NAME, AGE, LOCATION, and POSSIBLE RELATIVES. The entry for Brian David Sicknick shows he is 43 years old, located in Springfield, VA, with a fingerprint icon. A note indicates a "Phone Number Found!" in Springfield, VA. The "POSSIBLE RELATIVES" list includes Charles Sicknick, Charles Sicknick, Craig Sicknick, Gladys Sicknick, Kenneth Sicknick, and Nicholle Sicknick.

So who are these Sicknicks? As you can see, they hail from South River, NJ. Brian's sister-in-law is Nicholle Palmieri, whose brother and father are named Dante Palmieri. The Palmieris are active in Hollywood. We also find an Angela Palmieri as Senior Talent Partner at Spotify. Brian's brother Ken appears to be married to Susan Febinger, who links us to Bravermans and Schwartzes. So, we have the expected Jewish link three more times. Brian's mother Gladys is scrubbed everywhere, her maiden name being hidden at Wikipedia as well as in these people searches. The spooks have already been to these pages, cleansing them of most links out. Also curious is that the big computers don't know Brian Sicknick is a "long time partner" of Sandra Garza. MyLife also has a page for Brian Sicknick, but they don't link him to Sandra Garza and don't know he is dead, 18 months after the event. If she was living in his house with him, they would know that. Intelius and Instantcheckmate have no Sandra Garza of Springfield, VA, Sicknick's last known address.

Brian's aunt Elaine died recently, and her obituary at Findagrave says her greatest memory was her many trips to Lebanon.

So another easy clue there. The Sicknicks are also Iversons, Fausts and Nagels. Also curious is that Brian's father's and grandfather's middle names were Amandus, a very old noble and saintly name from the history books, closely linked to the Merovingians. You certainly wouldn't expect to find it here, but it links us to the usual suspects.

The Sicknicks also link us to the VanInderstines by marriage, including Russell VanInderstine of Northrop Grumman in Palm Bay, FL. So that may be another clue. He is also connected to L3Harris, which of course spun out of Lockheed and Loral. So more links to Air Force and military contracts.

All this indicates to me that Brian Sicknick's death was faked. Like Ashli Babbitt, he was an Air Force asset going in, probably from their theatrical department, and they just planted his name and photo in Capitol Police. That would be easy to do, since Air Force of course outranks Capitol Police. It would be simple for military intelligence to commandeer this event at the Capitol, having the Capitol police stand down for the psyop. Same thing they did more recently in Uvalde, where they ordered the locals to stand down. The locals in Uvalde are now hiring attorneys, to protect themselves from more blackwashing by the Feds. The Feds have decided to make the locals look bad, to fill their own story holes, and those on the ground in Texas don't like it. They are refusing to answer questions, and the police chief has just been put on administrative leave. This is allegedly for incompetence in handling the shooter, but I would say it is more likely due to refusing to take the blame for the Fed's errors in staging the hoax. The locals were just following orders, so they don't like being made to look like cowards or idiots.

We saw that again with the Capitol Police officer who allegedly shot Ashli Babbitt. Lt. Michael Byrd never even filed a report on the “death”, proving it was a fake. So he was probably planted in this event as well, possibly by Air Force. According to the mainstream story, Byrd was allegedly a Capitol policeman for 28 years at the time of the shooting, having joined at age 25. That by itself is unlikely. The Justice Department had already cleared his name by April, but his name wasn't released until the end of August, when NBC interviewed him. Everything around that fake shooting has been strange from the beginning.

The mainstream says he lives in Brandywine, MD, but not according to the big computers. Instantcheckmate has no listing for a Michael Byrd there. The Michael L. Byrd who lived in DC and Clinton is now 56, and does not have Brandywine on his list.

Also, he was 53 on January 6, 2021, so how has he aged three years since then? We are told he has also lived in Cheltenham and Capitol Heights, but as you see the computer doesn't think so. The computer thinks he has lived in Idaho and North Carolina, so he must have moved around a lot before age 25. So the mainstream bios sure got a lot of things wrong. I guess Rashel Byrd is his wife, since she is listed as age 55, formerly Rashel Freeman. That's kind of odd, since of course Freeman is a Jewish name. But it could also be a black name. She also has Emmett, ID, on her list. And what's in Emmett? It is a suburb of Boise, so we are looking at Mountain Home AFB, meaning my guess was right. Byrd is also Air Force. Still don't believe me? Well, Wilmington, NC, is near Camp Lejeune, Sunny Point, Cherry Point Air Station and New River Air Station.

Olivia Byrd appears to be his daughter, but Lisa Byrd is 58, so probably his sister. She is married to a Brown, but he is scrubbed off her page, which is strange. MyLife lists him as George Brown, related to McCormicks, which is a huge red flag, and probably explains why George Brown is scrubbed off the Byrd pages at Instantcheckmate and Intelius. To confirm I am not painting that flag red myself, we find these McCormicks are also Scarboroughs and Billings. Remember Lem Billings, boyfriend of JFK? But are these people at MyLife black or white? Some are black, some are white. We connect to the Hollimans pretty quickly, and they are definitely white. See Linda Holliman of Virginia Beach. She is linked to the Byrds through the Billings, just a couple of steps. These people also link us to Henrico, another possible red flag. See Phillip Billings of Henrico. Also see Robert McCormick, white, related closely to these people, and the CEO of Global Plan Initiative, 8615 Camden St., Alexandria, VA. Also 550 N St SW, Washington, DC. That last address is pretty amazing, since it is right on the channel, across the street from Tiber Island. It is not housing for poor black folks, or even for Capitol policemen. The address in Alexandria looks like a misdirect or front, since it is middle class residential. With more research we find this Bob McCormick is also the head of his own insurance company. He is now 73 and retired, living in Denver and Breckenridge. So my guess he is a spook. A little more research all but proves it, since his wife is listed as Lois McCormick, all the same locations, but add Fairfax and Reston, VA. You see why they scrubbed those locations off his list, right? That is Langley's front porch, CIA headquarters.

So Michael Byrd has some interesting white relatives, doesn't he?
