

Abby Martin and Chris Hedges Re-emerge

Still talking from earpieces.

You remember Abby Martin, right? The hot, annoying chick from RT who at first was a 911 Truther but then changed her mind, saying it wasn't an inside job after all. Telling me my first vibe that she was CIA was probably right. Well, I still have the same vibe, 20 years later. She's still beautiful at 41, which is of course why she was originally hired and re-animated here, but she has never gotten comfortable in front of the camera, still looking slightly scared of someone, as if there is a gun trained on her from the rafters. And there may be, I don't know. I have said that before about many of these people, and was only half joking. Her eyes are slightly too wide . . . unlike Chris Hedges, who, like Albert Bourla and many others, is having trouble keeping his eyes open. He looks like he sleeps about an hour a night. I had the same reaction to Hedges twenty years ago that I had to Martin, Tarpley, Cockburn, and several others, nearly falling for his intellectual schtick but then sobering up once I learned more. Hedges came out of Harvard and Colgate, where he founded a LGBT group in 1978, despite being straight. What? No one had even heard of LGBT in 1978. He started out at the Washington Post—the CIA's own newspaper—and NPR, and was a war correspondent at the New York Times until 2005, which is alone enough to bury him. He can never pretend to be alternative, much less revolutionary. He covered 911 for them, winning a Pulitzer as part of the team that covered Al Qaeda, selling it as real, though it was always just a CIA construct. He then moved to Truthdig and RT, pretending to be funded by the Russians, though RT is just another CIA front like Al Qaeda and Al Jazeera. In other words, like many Hedges was re-assigned after 911 to opposition control, a part he is still playing today, as we are about to see. At Truthdig he worked under Jewish editor Robert Scheer, who got his start at CIA-front Ramparts.

As for Martin, I remind you, quoting from her Wiki page:

In September 2015, Martin launched The Empire Files, an interview and documentary series. She has hosted guests including Chris Hedges, Noam Chomsky, Richard D. Wolff, Ralph Nader and Jill Stein.[45][non-primary source needed]

All opposition control agents (and Jews) themselves—two of whom I have since exposed—which is why that series soon crashed and burned. By 2015 everyone was sick of hearing it. Those people had all lost their luster, and they all went the way of Cockburn and the CounterPunch staff, who also tried to sell 911 “as seen on TV”, attacking Truthers with wimpy ad homs like Matt Taibbi. Richard Wolff is a Jewish Marxist economist from the New School, if you don't know.

That fits in here like a glove, because Abby Martin just released a new film called The Earth's Greatest Enemy, which, on the face of it, is a strong condemnation of the US military as the worst polluter and destroyer of ecosystems on the planet—something I have been telling you for years—but the film is actually selling Socialism. She and Hedges popped up out of nowhere on Youtube promoting it, which is how I saw it today. At first I laughed, because I haven't seen either person for years. I had forgotten they existed and maybe you did, too. She has been completely off the radar for the past decade, and so has Chris Hedges, who disappeared after his plagiarism fiasco in 2014. He was immediately re-assigned as a Presbyterian minister in New Jersey at that time, another move that screamed CIA. Reminds us of William Sloane Coffin, doesn't it?

Anyway, all of that comes from their Wiki pages, so I am not telling you anything new, though my critique may look novel, since it is coming from the left, not the right. I happen to agree with a lot of what Hedges says, I just don't think he is earnest. He is an infiltrator of the left, as we can see from his book Death of the Liberal Class. His thesis is mostly right, except that the liberal class hasn't died, it has been murdered by the CIA and its masters, and except that he uses this death as the opportunity to declare liberalism a failure, so that these people can ditch the Constitution and move on to Socialism/Communism, joining their oligarch cousins in Russia and China. Why not argue for the return of this old-style liberalism and a dismantling of the Intelligence state? He doesn't say. Why not beef up the Constitution? He doesn't say. I guess he thinks Socialism will scare away the bad guys by its very name. As it has done so admirably in the rest of the world.

This latest film is meant to appeal to people like me, since it leads with a strong condemnation of the US military, its imperialism, its violence, and even its pollution. But I wasn't fooled this time since I knew they were playing the usual confidence game. The only question is what were they up to? I soon found out, because they not only slip in several asides to nukes, quietly selling that as real, keeping you baked with that fear, and selling the Iran War as real, and selling the Iraq War as real, they much less quietly sell Socialism. Martin says, “It's either Socialism or Barbarism” [min 17:30]. She doesn't say how Socialism would rein in the military, and all you have to do is remind yourself of 1984, Russia, or China to see that. Socialism just makes every kind of militarism easier to advance and harder to stop, because it further entrenches the State and further weakens the populace. But Martin's saying that is highly instructive for us, because it means the CIA is pushing Socialism. We already knew that, since otherwise it would not have such astonishing promotion and be making such fantastic advances this year, but it's good to hear it from the agents' own lips as they pretend to blackwash the military to gain our trust.

If you don't believe me, ask yourself how you could see this terrible condemnation of the military and Ruling Class on Youtube, when you can't even question Sandy Hook on Youtube. Youtube is a CIA and Pentagon front, like all other big websites, so how did this get through? I just told you: it is a confidence game, telling you what you want to hear and what you already know, but trying to use it to steer you nonetheless into Socialism, ie even further into the hands of the Ruling Class. They want you to feel revolutionary hearing Abby trash the elite and the military (though she is elite and her husband Michael Prysner is military), so that you forget Socialism has proved to be the best way to squelch all revolution by further outlawing dissent. Dissent is not a feature of Socialism, is it? Are Europeans freer to dissent than we are? No, they have no First Amendment. Dissent is a feature of Republics, so why aren't Martin and Hedges promoting a Republic? I have reminded you this is what you should have always asked Chomsky and the rest of those guys, selling you anarcho-syndicalism or some other absurd theory, and it is what you should be asking Martin and Hedges. The opposite of Fascism isn't Socialism, since we saw them go hand in hand in the 20th century. The opposite of Fascism is a Constitutional Republic, just a better one than we have: one with a stronger, longer Constitution and stronger Republican safeguards against tyranny by the rich.

I don't even need to remind you of Russia and China, since Europe is a closer big example. Have the European governments improved drastically by becoming semi-Socialist over the past century? No, the people have become weaker and the governments have become more tyrannical. I have lived in Europe, and many said to me any revolution was up to us in the US, since they are too tied down. They have had all the air taken out of them by decades of Socialist propaganda. They have been tamed by their cradle-to-grave guarantees of basic social services and no longer have the gumption to care that they are being robbed by massive taxes for things not being delivered. I have hit Norway as the prime example there in papers over the past decade, where I reminded the Norwegians they should all be millionaires paying zero taxes, due to their oil fields. But somehow the citizens have been left out of that bonanza, still paying high taxes while trillions are skimmed by the usual suspects. Same in most other European nations, to a lesser extent. Same thing in the US, and Socialism will just make it worse.

Hard to understand how Hedges ignores all that, since he claims to have been weaned on Orwell, reading Homage to Catalonia instead of comic books or The Hobbit. I guess he missed 1984.

But as the Trump feint collapses, it looks like they have decided Socialism, of the Soviet sort or at least the European sort, is the only way to avoid revolution. They could have reversed into their 1950s model, as I have been advising, but someone decided to push on ahead, double down, and take the US and the world to the Mordor model. They want to punish us for resisting them, and that has become their ruling passion post 911. The jackboot. It won't work for them—how could it?—for themselves least of all. Yes, it will be horrible for us, but it will be even worse for them, both in the short term and the long term. Yes, they may continue swimming in money, but has that ever bought them self-esteem? No, they hate themselves now more than ever, rightly, and it will only get worse as the Phoenician scheme devolves into the Mordor scheme. They are already visibly turning into orcs before our eyes, as we see with Hedges—who is seven years older than me but looks 20 years older—and it will come for Abby Martin, too. Her mouth is already going wonky like Matt Damon, and her voice is going into a well. How many cigarettes must she smoke? It's not too late to turn around, Abby.

Now let's hit the genealogies, to round this out. It's all about the bloodlines, as you now know. Abby's full name is never given, Wikipedia listing her as Abby with no middle name. FastPeopleSearch tells us she is Abigail S. Martin. Her father Fred Martin lives in a $5-million-dollar home in Orinda, CA. Her mother is Nancy Johnson, also related to Nygard, Pirelli, Campbell, Goldberg and Rocha. Nygard is Finnish nobility, think Peter Nygard. Pirelli is Italian nobility, and Rocha is Portuguese nobility. Abby is also related to an O. Lee Stuart, Jr., 104, of Fort Worth, TX. So wouldn't it be funny if her middle name was Stuart? He actually died in 2011 at age 89. He was an architect and builder. Is he related to Robert Alda Stuart of Fort Worth, aka J. R. Ewing of Dallas? My guess is yes.

In fact, I just found it, since O. stands for Oscar. He was hiding behind that initial. He is Oscar Lee Stuart, Jr., died 2011 at age 89, first cousin of Robert Alda Stuart, Jr. Their grandfather was Christopher Columbus Stewart, linking us to the Stewarts of Kentucky, and to the Swifts, Davises, Copelands, Fleetwoods (of Loudoun County), and McQuinns. The name McQuinn is more proof we have the right Stuarts, since FastPeopleSearch tells us O. Lee Stuart related to Abby owned McQuinn Properties in Carrollton. These Davises come directly from Jehu Davis, Governor of Delaware, and yes, he was Jewish. He changed his name to John but named his son Isaac. Findagrave ends these Stewarts in Kentucky, but we can switch to Wikitree, where we find they continue back to New York, where they marry the Presidential Harrisons before continuing back to Alexander Stewart of Glendale, Scotland. He came to Massachusetts in 1662 with his wife Hannah Templar. See, I told you it would be worth it.

I also remind you the prominent Rochas of the Los Angeles area descend from Don Antonio Rocha, Portuguese nobility and Phoenician Navy, who helped found Los Angeles back to 1815, when he landed in Monterey. Some sources say he jumped ship, but he didn't: he owned the ship. He and his family soon owned large parts of downtown and the area of the La Brea tar pits and the first City Hall on Spring Street. He married Josepha Alvarado, of Spanish nobility and another of the richest families in the area.

As for Christopher Lynn Hedges, of Princeton, NJ, his Radaris page says Chapter 7 bankruptcy under "occupation", so that's what you have waiting for you as a CIA agent at retirement time. According to FastPeople Search he is related to a Timmy Martin, so that may explain why he and Abby are working together. That's what we have always found: these people like to marry and work with close cousins. Also Schwartz, Hollingsworth, Fleming, Hart, and Driver. His parents may be Thomas and Thelma Hedges of Lambertville, NJ. Thelma's sister may be Jane Williams, aka Ellen Gallo. Chris comes from the Rev. Thomas H. Hedges of Brooklyn, b. 1900, still listed at FastPeopleSearch as being 126. It took some doing, but I tracked down that H. as Havard, and Chris' father is also Thomas Havard Hedges, which is interesting since Havard=Harvard, and Chris went to Harvard. This means Chris' mother is a Prince and a Walker from Maine. His maternal grandmother is a Bogert/Bogart and a Watson. Here is one of Hedges' cousins, who kind of looks like him:

William Havard, a bishop with five war medals. Touching. Chris, you know, is also a minister and he has said he loves the thrill of war. Revealing, ain't it? The Havards have their own chapel in Brecon Cathedral, Wales. Havard was also Order of St. John of Jerusalem (Knight Hospitaller).
