Elf on a Shelf discovered to have actual camera inside.

A Poughkeepsie family was shocked when the head came off their Elf on the Shelf on Christmas Day, revealing a tiny camera inside. Upon further investigation by a neighbor in the Tech industry, it was found the camera was sending voice and video to CIA headquarters in Langley, VA.

The family felt used and disappointed, because they had been assured all voice and video was going to the North Pole.

In answer to a query, the CIA responded favorably, assuring the family that all data was being processed anonymously before being sent on to Santa.
