

You thought we had bottomed out? AH HAHHAHAHA!

by Miles Mathis

March 23, 2025

OK, mark your calendars, we have just entered some Baudrillardian post-historical hellscape of infinite insanity. Two news items came out today, both of them which make all previous news taste like tap water. The first is a story out of Ukraine, where the Defense Ministry is recruiting new soldiers with promises of thousands of McDonald's cheeseburgers. I am absolutely not making that up. This war has now gone so transparently fake they figure why not just insert a McDonald's ad right into the middle of it. I guess next they will appoint Mayor McCheese as the new President to replace Zelensky.

They sort of already did this here in the US, remember, offering kids McDonald's french fries if they got vaccinated back in 2021, but most of us have probably blocked that from our minds as not worthy of human memory. And this isn't just one city doing it to fool a few people into getting a shot, it is an entire country doing it to fool people into the army.

And I remind you, in any real world run by sane people, Bill de Blasio and others who did this would have been prosecuted as accessories to mass murder for that. Instead, nothing.

In any other history of the world, that would be the strangest news of March 23, 2025, but not in this timeline, fella. It was beat out by Trump suggesting we should join the British Commonwealth, adding that he loved King Charles. Yeah, I know, take your time. Breathe deep and try to recenter. Pat yourself down. Yes, we are both awake and alive, as far as I can tell.

So . . . it isn't that we will be annexing Canada, it will be that Canada will be annexing us.

Maybe Trump is having a psychotic reaction to an Ozempic overdose, causing him to forget a little thing called the US War of Independence. We allegedly split from the British Empire in 1776, or that is what we were told. I seem to remember learning something about it in grade school, and maybe you do, too.

Trump called Prince Charles “a beautiful man”. Funny, he recently said a similar thing about Albert Bourla, head of Pfizer, to a wall of boos from his own people.

We are told US membership in the Commonwealth would only be “ceremonial”. Tell that to the ghost of Patrick Henry, whose chest just hatched a xenomorph.

But to be honest, the reason you are probably staring in disbelief at your screen is slightly different than the reason I am. You and most other normal and patriotic Americans are coughing up blood for the reason I just stated: you remember the Revolutionary War, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, etc etc. While me, I am simply reminded of my papers of the past five years on the Founding Fathers, where I showed you all that history is also finessed. I showed you there a lot of evidence we never split from England, and that the City of London has been ruling us all along from behind the curtains. We even saw evidence of that in my paper on Lennon and the Beatles, where we saw MI6 active here through the BSC. We saw it in my paper on Jack London, where we saw military bases in the US staffed by the British Army. So I am aware that we have always been a stealth member of the British Commonwealth.

But that doesn't mean I am not shocked by this. I may be even more shocked than you, because the last thing I thought to see in 2025 was them admitting this. You will say they aren't admitting it, but they are implying it. I see this as them basically flashing you their hand, though I can't figure out why they would. It seems like the worst possible moment for it, unless they are yearning for the flames.

Are they testing your intelligence, or lack of it? Just how vaccine damaged are you? Are you still lucid enough to see a clue when it smacks you in the face? We could say the same about the story from Ukraine, since it could be read in the same way. The Matrix is going transparent all around you, with cats walking by multiple times in every doorway, to see if you can spot them. Can you?

---

---

Let's see. Because in other gaslighting, I saw more idiocy in the sidebars at the Daily Mail, where the Trump story came from. We are supposed to believe Tiger Woods is now dating Vanessa Trump. One problem. . . no, two problems: they are both gay. Would you believe three problems:

That picture is fake, since Vanessa doesn't look like that anymore. She didn't look that good 20 years ago when she married Don, Jr. She is now 47 and looks nothing like that. So they either pasted an old head in there from about 25 years ago or CGI'ed it. Don't believe me? Here is her Wiki photo from eight years ago:

That is dated 2017. So another cat just walked by that doorway.

You may want to check her dating history, since she famously dated Leo DiCaprio as well. Again, strongly rumored to be gay, so she was probably a beard there as well. Leo is famous for wearing dresses, and Tobey Maguire's mother all but admitted they were lovers. Leo's list of female dates is a list of probable lesbian models like Bridget Hall, Natasha Henstridge, Naomi Campbell, Bijou Phillips, Amber Valetta, and Gisele Bundchen (yes, I realize what that means).

I remind you that some of those women Tiger supposedly cheated on his wife with ended up spilling the beans on Tiger, admitting he was gay. They said they saw him with men. Vanessa supposedly lived with Prince Khalid Al Saud before she was with Donald Jr.:

Yeah, that guy. Except that there are no pictures of them together. Not one. In fact, there are no photos of him with any woman except his wife Lucy Cuthbert (and only a couple of those on one day).

---

---

In a related story, you may have thought you got to see Margaret Qualley nude in the recent movie The Substance. Nope, that too was a fake. Body doubles and CGI. Margaret is beautiful but she doesn't look like that. Much smaller tits, less full behind, less perfect skin. Very disappointing, at least for me. I like things real and I don't mind skinny. So why would they do that: same reason they made the movie: to mess you up further. Like everything else, it wasn't a cautionary tale, it was how-to guide to physical and sexual self-destruction. It won't curb the plastic mayhem it will just accelerate it, as it was meant to. Why do you think they cast the plastic Demi Moore? Because she is actually on that path and has been since she was 40. For her it isn't even fiction.

They CGI'ed Qualley into that slick and perfect sex doll to redirect your libido onto that. They are doing the same thing on Youtube, selling you CGI'ed female world athletes as real without telling you they are androids. If you are a guy they want you imprinting on these robots so that when you get with a real girl you will be disappointed. Pretty soon you won't be able to get it up for anything but these perfect androids, which works for them since they don't exist, either. Your sexuality has just been destroyed, which is as good as sterilizing you. It is the new stealth eugenics.

---

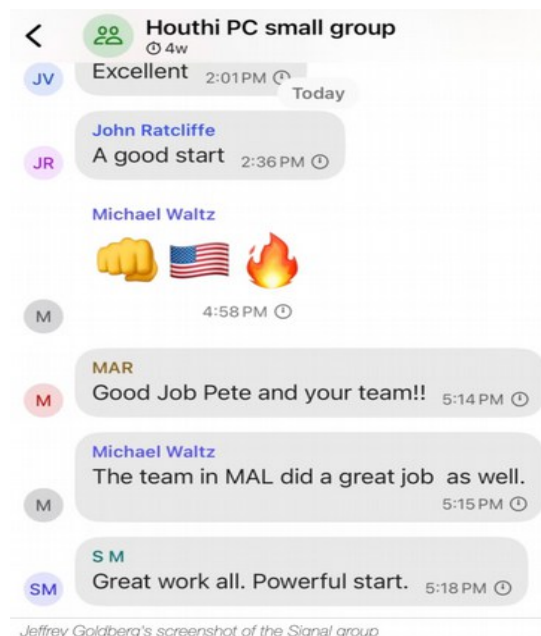

---

Next day: the gaslighting continues, as the big story today was Atlantic journalist Jeffrey Goldberg (Jewish of course, allegedly anti-Trump) accidentally being added to a Signal group chat of top defense officials like Hegseth, Gabbard, Vance, Waltz, and Rubio, discussing bombing Yemen and the Houthis. Goldberg admits it was national security advisor Waltz who “accidentally” added him to the list.

RIGHT. Because these people don't meet in a secure room in the Pentagon or somewhere to discuss wars plans face to face, they do it online in a chatroom with no security and then send out emails to a subscribers' list.

You do realize all these people live in DC and there is no fake pandemic now, so why would they be meeting online? They all testified in front of Congress together the next day, so it isn't like some of them were out of the country or even out of the county. The CIA director posted a reply to this paper the next day, assuring us that Signal has been OKed for this use, but that is an empty assurance because in a real world there is no chance that is true. There is no chance these people would be discussing major bombing runs in a chatroom and “accidentally” inviting the editors of major magazines on the far left to blow their cover. And today we get more numerology proving this was a fake, as they tell us 18 people were on the list. So I guess Goldberg was included to give us aces and eights?

You have to laugh at how childish and transparent that is. This is IQ70 news. Grown men and women supposedly running our military texting about illegal (though fake) bombing with emojis and double exclamation points.

It is almost impossible to believe they thought anyone would buy this, but I guess you understand what they are up to? These people wanted to leak you this fake group chat and have you read it, because it seems to confirm the fake war in Yemen and the fake bombing. I have shown you the Houthis are just another CIA/Mossad construct like Hamas, Hezbollah, BLM, Proud Boys, Oathkeepers, the American Nazi Party, Antifa, and just about every other group you have ever read about in the “news”. They are the manufactured enemy on the other side of the world, the Eurasia of Orwell's 1984, propped up on sticks as the target of our fake military, which will use this tale to burn up pretend bombs and other hardware, which will have to be replaced by military contractors, who will bill you for it. Do you see how that works? This is a war economy so this can't not happen. A huge portion of your federal taxes go to these fake wars, most of the rest going to the bankers who are invested in the military contractors . . . so support those troops!

---

---

Added last minute: Youtuber Erik van Conover was allegedly arrested for evading arrest and trying to run over a police officer, and you can watch his appearance in court here. He makes a complete ass of himself, but that isn't the problem. Can you tell me what is wrong here? Since when do courts film and publish initial appearances before a judge? Where is he supposed to be, exactly, sitting in front of a US flag and a New Hampshire flag taped to a cinderblock wall? Just so you know, this guy is a multi-millionaire actor from a prominent New York family, and the name was originally Couwenhoven. Can you see it? Couwen=Cowen=Cohen. And how's this for irony: his last acting job was last year's Broadway play Flight Risk. Do you get it? Flight risk?

---

---

I will end on a more positive note, or at least a more humorous one. I tried to watch Alien: Romulus last night, don't ask me why. It was so bad I didn't make it through, and for a moment I thought of writing a review, but then I thought why waste my time. Surely I have better papers to write. Besides, the Critical Drinker at Youtube has already destroyed it, though not nearly to the extent I would have. But I did want to mention something he missed: my favorite part of the movie and one that made me laugh outloud for many minutes. I am still chuckling. I noticed one of the girls was wearing Converse hightops in one scene. 500 years in the future in another part of the galaxy, and she is wearing Converse hightops. Also wearing Free People overalls from Urban Outfitters or something. Wow. The Drinker said this was low budget, but c'mon. For 80 million it seems the wardrobe department could have done something more than go to the mall. We are supposed to believe this stellar abortion made 350 million worldwide, but I for one don't. It also has great reviews, which I don't believe, either. We know the studios pay for these reviews, or writes them themselves, and I have proved the box office numbers are also fake. I suppose it made back its budget, or they wouldn't green-light a sequel, but my guess is they spent about 20 million on this and made about the same. They probably stiffed the actors, so the producers may have pocketed a couple mil. With that they can justify making Alien: Catamite or whatever.